

Terms of use

Superintelligent Group AB · company reg. no. 559213-4836 · Effective from 26 October 2026

1. The services

These terms apply when you use Superintelligent Group AB's website and the free tools on it:

- The Superintelligent Game ("the game"), where you can describe how your organisation works with AI today through the game's questions, and choose to leave your answers and contact details for a follow-up conversation.
- The AI debt calculator ("the calculator"), which produces an estimate based on the assumptions you enter.

AI interviews that we carry out on behalf of a client are governed by the engagement agreement with the client and by About the AI interview.

2. No advice

The game, its comments, the recap you may receive by email and the calculator's results are not an assessment, certification or advice. The comments describe in general terms what a particular answer usually means. The calculator's result is an estimate based on general assumptions and your own information, and should not be the basis for decisions without your own review. What it means for your organisation is something we go through in a personal conversation.

3. Your information

You are responsible for making sure the information you provide is correct and that you are entitled to provide it on behalf of your organisation. Do not enter any sensitive personal data or trade secrets in the game. How we process the information is described in our privacy policy.

4. Permitted use

You may use the game and the calculator for your own use and for your organisation. You may not

- submit information in someone else's name or submit forms automatically,
- try to disrupt, overload or circumvent the functions of the website, the game or the form,
- copy the content, questions, model or graphics of the game or the calculator for commercial use without our written permission.

5. Intellectual property

Superintelligent Group AB owns all rights to the website, the game and the calculator, including questions, texts, calculation model, graphics, sound and code.

6. Availability and liability

The services are provided as is and without warranties. We may change, pause or discontinue them at any time. To the extent permitted by law, we are not liable for indirect damage or losses arising from the use of the services or their content.

7. Changes

We may update these terms. The version published when you use the services applies.

8. Governing law and language

These terms are governed by Swedish law. Disputes are settled by the general courts of Sweden.

This is a translation of our Swedish terms of use, Användarvillkor. If the versions differ, the Swedish version applies.
